Case study

Dell's Foods is an Australian-owned manufacturer of packaged meats (smallgoods). The business has been operating for a number of years and has a very loyal staff, reflected in very low rates of absenteeism and turnover.

However, not all areas of the business have been performing as well as management would like. Recent expansion into the global market has seen an increase in sales but also some worrying signs from other key performance indicators.

The Finance Manager produced the following data:

	2016	2017	2018
Sales	$17.4m	$22.1m	$29.6m
Net profit	$3.8m	$4.2m	$6.6m
Level of wastage (% of inputs)	3%	5%	11%
Number of customer complaints (per 1000 sales)	15	87	142

Senior Managers have become concerned about these figures and would like to see a 10% decrease in the level of wastage and in the number of customer complaints for 2019, and further reductions over the subsequent five years back to 2016 levels.

Question 1 (3 marks)

Define 'number of customer complaints' and explain how the trend in this key performance indicator may affect the percentage of market share.

Question 2 (3 marks)

Analyse one global consideration that Dell's Foods could adopt to reduce the number of customer complaints.

Question 3 (3 marks)

Analyse one other strategy Dell's Foods could implement to reduce the number of customer complaints.

A second key performance indicator showing a negative trend is the level of wastage. Evaluate two technology strategies Dell's Foods could implement to reduce the level of wastage.

[illegible]

Question 5 (10 marks)

To improve the performance of employees, the owner of Dell's Foods is considering adopting a motivation strategy and introducing a performance management system.

- a. Evaluate a motivation strategy the business could adopt.
